

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A memory card controller controls the file allocation table and file system structures of a memory card, in order to speed up data transfer to and from the memory card and a host device, such as a digital camera. The 5 memory card controller includes a memory to store the file allocation table, and a processor to update the file allocation table and file system structures based on access commands received from the host device.

Attorney Docket No. 10014180-1